

Project one: Portfolio

By Celine Roure

Overview:

1. Design process and decisions
2. My portfolio and the features
3. Review: challenges - favourite parts

Design process

Goal: creating a simple website, but realisable, that works and add some extra features if I have enough time

Style: one main page that scroll down to my different components + 5 blog post pages

Components

---

One main page with 8 components:

- Header: logo and Navbar
- Hero
- Experience
- About me
- Projects
- Blog
- Contact
- Footer

Plus Five blog post pages with 4 components:

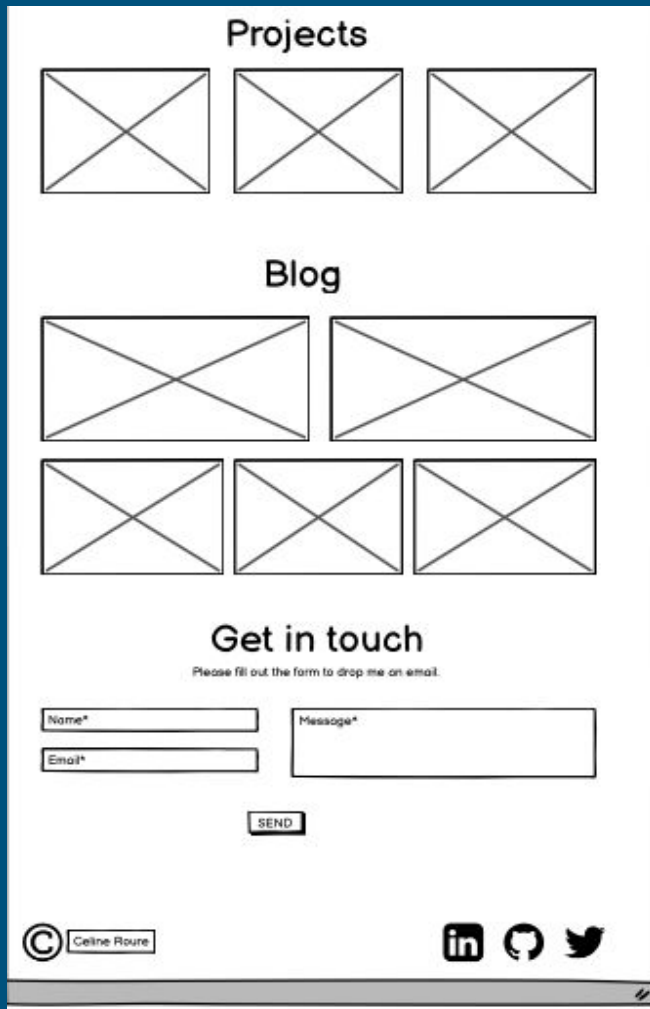

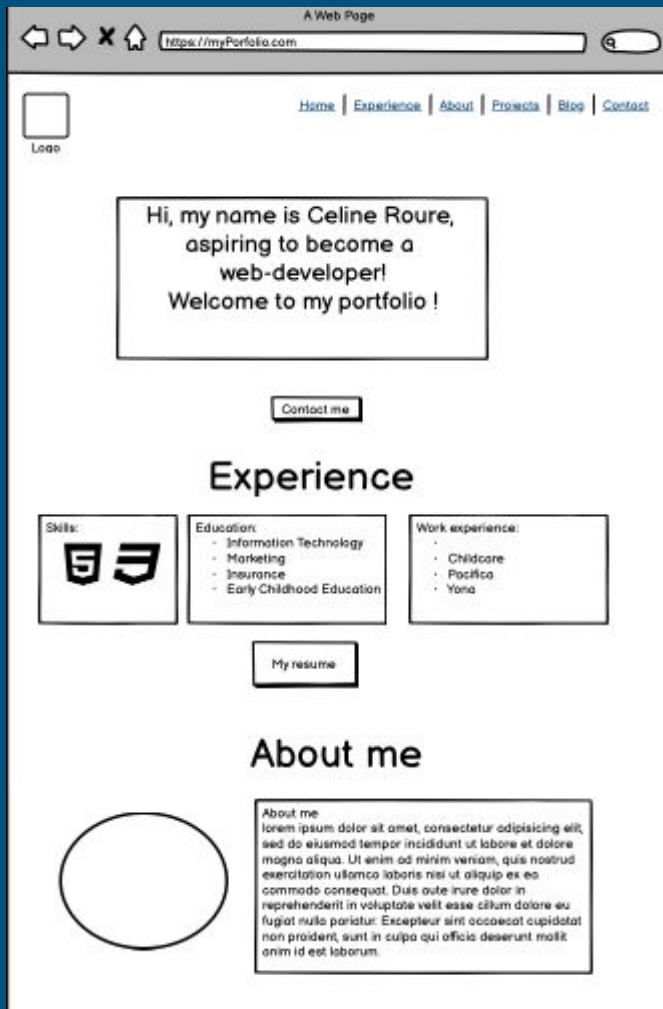

- Header
- Article with photo
- Sidebar (only visible on Desktop)
- Footer

Wireframe

Desktop version :

I modify it
multiple times,
along my coding
process

I used media queries to make the components
responsive

Wireframe

Tablet version:

For each component, the elements are forming one large block or two smaller blocks to fit the width, using mainly grid.

Wireframe

Mobile version:

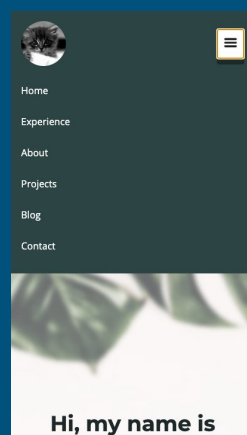

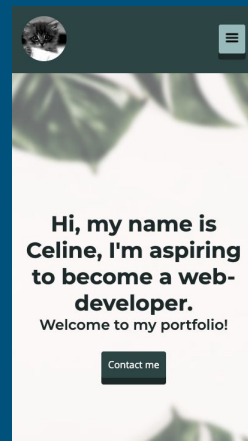

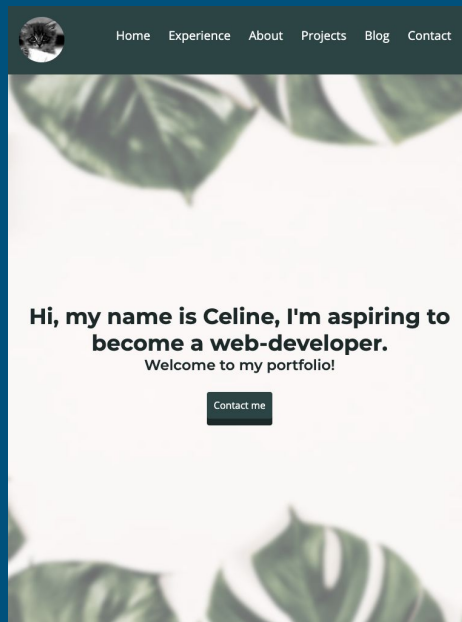

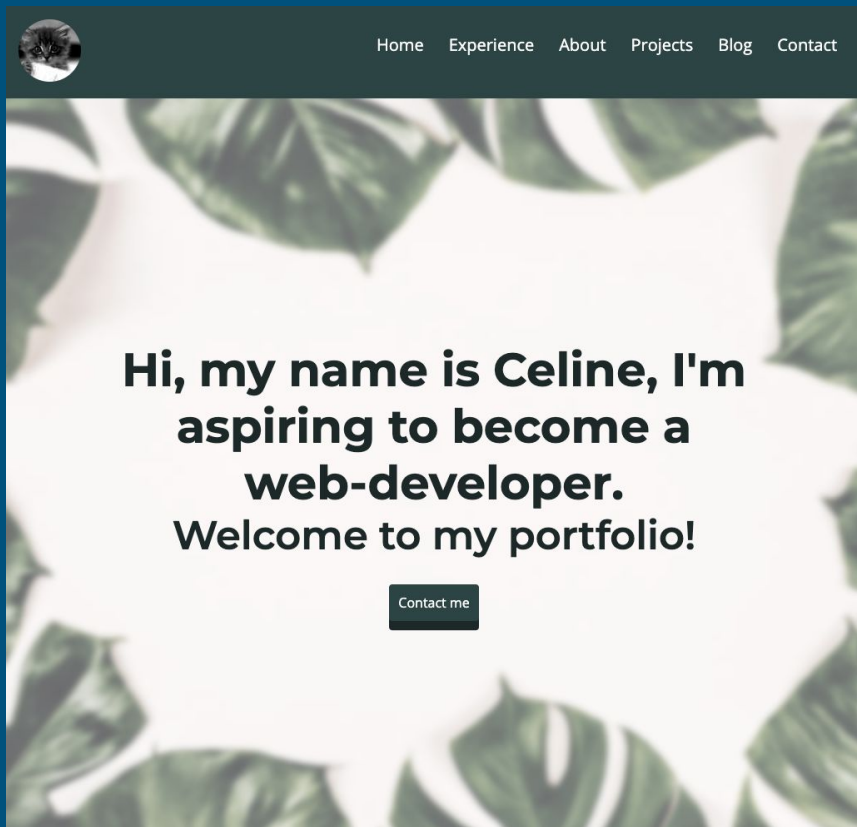

Every element
stacked on top of each other forming one column

My portfolio: <https://celine-roure-portfolio.netlify.app/>

For mobile, I created a hamburger menu in JS.

My Resume

About me

Hi, my name is Celine and I am aspiring to become web-developer. After being a full-time mum for 3 years, I am ready for a career change and upskill my knowledge in Tech, with a background of marketing. I have started my journey into coding during lockdown and I am currently doing my diploma of I.T at Coder Academy. I am curious and love being challenged. I am passionate about education, feminism and in the same time sustainability.
